Email Fransua at fransua@northbaytennis.com to organise a pickup or dropoff time to get your racquet ready before the season starts

Make your favourite racquet feel like new again

Start your season with a new set of strings and a new grip

A new grip not only feels better while holding your racquet, it can also help you play better since you don't have to hold your grip too tight while you play and new grips absorb sweat better, so you don't feel like you're holding a fish when you play in 30 degree weather

Overgrips

A thin overgrip goes over your existing grip and is quick and easy to put on even during changeovers in a match.

Overgrips do not have glue to stick to the grip underneath and you'll see the pros sometimes take one off and put another one on during a match

If you don't mind your grip just getting a little thicker or you want to change grips often because of sweaty hands, overgrips are what you need.

Replacement grip

The replacement grip is the original grip that your racquet came with and it goes straight onto the handle of a racquet.

Replacement grips are thicker than an overgrip and one side has glue to stick to the racquet itself

If your grip is old and falling apart and you want your grip to stay exactly the same thickness, it is better to get a replacement grip. Some replacement grips have contours for added feel or sweat absorption. contours for added feel or sweat absorption.

Available in single grips for $12+HST per grip

Racquet Restringing Service

Guaranteed service within 48 hours or sooner

If you don't break strings often, it is recommended that you string your racquet as many times per year as you play per week. Strings lose tension over time and will not feel the same as when your racquet was new or like when you had it restrung. Since our racquets have been collecting dust over the past 6 months it is a good idea to get it restrung and ready for another season.

As a general rule: tighter strings - less power and more control

Looser strings - more power and less control

Racquets used to be strung very tight (between 58 lbs and 68 lbs) but with new racquet and string technology, some of the pro's string their racquet as low as 40 lbs.

Less tight strings are also a bit easier on the arm but can move more on each other during contact with the ball and because of that friction might break sooner.

Power, spin and durability depends on the kind of string, texture and the thickness of the string.

Generally at club level, most racquets now are strung between 52 and 46 lbs.
